

“I would absolutely recommend Aero & Marine to others who are purchasing an aircraft.”

When the owner of an electrical contracting company in the Bay area needed to buy a new Cessna Citation CJ 525 airplane, he turned to Aero & Marine Tax Professionals for help in getting a sales tax exemption for the purchase.

The owner of the company said “We’re electrical contractors and we do highly complicated power distribution and data center work. Our primary use for the aircraft was for going back and forth to Colorado for our other business interests. The locations that we go to are not accessible by commercial airlines. This aircraft is an upgrade in quality and reliability, and not having to pay the taxes on it is a big plus. I appreciated that Aero & Marine Tax Professionals knew all about the technical aspects of handling this. It’s not something that someone can do on their own. I appreciate all the effort and the making sure that I kept up with all the paperwork. They stayed on top of the many things that could go wrong if someone didn’t keep up with this. They did a wonderful job. I would absolutely recommend Aero & Marine to others who are purchasing an aircraft.”
