When the owner of a wholesale fastener distributor company needed to buy a Cirrus Turbo GTS airplane, he turned to Aero & Marine Tax Professionals for help in getting a sales tax exemption for the purchase.

One of the executives for the company said “We use the aircraft for visiting customers, vendors, going to trade shows, and visiting our sales manager in Wyoming. It’s a lot more convenient flying yourself. Some of the destinations are much more difficult to get to via commercial airlines, especially when you would have to fly to a remote airport and then rent a car to do a long drive. Or worse, fly a commuter airline which is a lot more expensive. I can do in four hours what would take a day to do on commercial airline. I can go, do business, and then get back in one day where it would take one day just to get there by commercial airline.”

“Aero and Marine Tax Professionals held my hand and had patience. I did get upside down at the beginning, they had sent me a packet of information, and I had made a mistake, only copying one side of the packet of information they had sent me. Once they got me straightened out on that, I did do well and they caught a couple of my other errors. I would absolutely recommend Aero & Marine Tax Professionals! You can tell others that you just saved Jim Law at Ababa Bolt $60,000 on the purchase.”
