

“I was referred to Aero & Marine by my tax accountant. He said that you would make SURE that we would get through the sales tax exemption process correctly.”

When Thomas, the owner of a real estate and property management company in southern California needed to buy a new Piper PA32 airplane, he turned to Aero & Marine Tax Professionals for help in getting a sales tax exemption for the purchase.

Thomas said “We’re in real estate and property management, along with apartments. One of the main parts of the business is vacation rental management and resort destinations. Another one is apartment ownership. The good deals on apartments move around with the economy. I need to be able to get around quickly to get them. In the southwest is where we work.”

“My businesses are in multiple states – Arizona, Nevada, and California. Being able to get there quick enough to conduct a day’s business without going commercial living out in Big Bear was why I got a plane. It lets me live at Big Bear Lake. Where I live is an hour’s drive off the mountain, and two hours to the commercial airport. So a plane facilitates me getting to these locations.”

“I was referred to Aero & Marine by my tax accountant. He said that you would make SURE that we would get through the sales tax exemption process correctly. From you, I learned that there were a lot of parts to the process of getting the tax exemption, and you did make sure that I did everything correctly. I will be purchasing another aircraft within the next two years, and I will use Aero & Marine again.”
